The present disclosure relates generally to tables and accessories used with tables. Some examples of tables may include: tables having legs and tables having seating. Some tables may be used in a permanent configuration, but some may also be used in a portable configuration. For example, some tables may be capable of being folded or unfolded to be portable. In particular, some traditional tables may be formed of numerous parts that may be broken down or assembled to form the table. Other tables may have fewer parts and may be assembled more quickly than traditional tables. Additionally, some tables may be collapsible.

Sailing Instructor Dies From Coffee Overdose ELIZABETH, NJ (CBS) — A woman who was a sailing instructor was found dead inside her home in Neptune after an apparent accidental coffee overdose. The woman's husband found the body at their home in the 9500 block of North Long Branch Avenue on Friday morning and called police. Veronica Halstead, 26, was found dead inside her home. She was rushed to an area hospital after she called her husband, who was not at home at the time, and told him that she was taking Tylenol as a hangover preventative, WRP reported. "When I called the couple, [Veronica] was not responsive so I was a little worried. I knew she had been drinking and she told me that she was taking some Tylenol, which we took to mean that that it would make her sleep," Halstead's husband, Jason, told WRP. Police arrived at Halstead's home around 11:30 a.m. after receiving a call for a welfare check from Halstead's husband. Officers, paramedics and a fire department were on the scene in minutes. Halstead was pronounced dead at the hospital. Her husband was taken into custody for questioning, police said. Hospital officials told WRP that Halstead had been an employee at The Yacht Club since August 2013. She had started the internship July 8 and her work with the club was voluntary.
