I need a way to get Android's list of available contacts to populate a drop down list with a specific contact's name in the phone book. The Android documentation on this says to use `ContactsContract.Contacts.SCHEME_LOOKUP`. However, I have read many different Android articles and they all mention to use `ContactsContract.Contacts.SCHEME_LOOKUP`. But that always lists the first contact in the phone book as the selected one. So can anyone show me how to get Android to display one specific contact in the picker? I tried using `ContactsContract.Contacts.SCHEME_LOOKUP`, but it comes back with "0" in the data column. A: I looked around a bit more and came across the following article, which works for what I need: The gist of it is that I create a custom contact picker and inject it into the Android picker activity through a custom view. Home > Taxol-induced mouse mammary tumor cells develop subcutaneous metastases after intravenous inoculation. Taxol, a new potential anticancer agent, induced subcutaneous tumor cell outgrowth in C3H/He and BALB/c mice after intravenous or intradermal inoculation. The subcutaneous tumor outgrowth involved round, multilobular, or solid structures. The average tumor volume in each group was approximately 500 mm³ after 10 days, whereas untreated mice did not develop subcutaneous tumors. In addition, using histologic studies and a lung colonization assay, we observed the growth of Taxol-induced
