In this regulation, the government gave BOSI the right to use its shareholding as the starting point for the company's capitalization in order to reduce its long-term (10-year) government debt, which increased from 190.5 billion Indonesian Rupiah (IDR) in 2010 to 288.3 billion IDR in 2011. BOSI was allowed to use its shareholding as the basis of capitalization only for a maximum period of 10 years, and then a new stock exchange regulation should be approved. This new regulation, however, was not implemented due to the popular support for KHC's solvency, because many large investors replicated the shareholding rule of BOSI. The current research was done to investigate the causes of the government's failure to implement the new regulation on the admission and capitalization of BOSI. The study aims to understand the effects of the regulation on the admission and capitalization of BOSI on the Indonesian stock market. The study aims to determine the current state of the Indonesian stock market and BOSI's shareholding in relation to their capitalization in order to find out the reasons behind the government's delay of implementing the new regulation on the admission and capitalization of BOSI.
