vmware workstation pro works by creating fully isolated, secure virtual machines that encapsulate an operating system and its applications. the vmware virtualization layer maps the physical hardware resources to the virtual machine's resources, so each virtual machine has its own cpu, memory, disks, and i/o devices, and is the full equivalent of a standard x86 machine. vmware workstation pro installs onto the host operating system and provides broad hardware support by inheriting device support from the host. vmware vcenter server appliance is a multi-tenant vsphere management platform that provides centralized administration of multiple vmware vsphere deployments. it provides a set of management interfaces to provision, configure, and manage vmware vsphere infrastructures, and is used for managing the software components of your vmware vsphere environment, including esxi hosts, virtual machines, and vcenter server. after you upgrade your system to vcenter server 7.0 update 3, the vsphere client is upgraded to use the spring framework version 5, because spring 4 is eol as of december 31, 2020. however, some plug-ins which use spring 4 apis might fail due to incompatibility with spring 5. for example, plug-ins for vmware nsx data center of version 6.4.10 or earlier. you see an error such as http status 500 internal server error. vmware workstation pro runs on most standard x86-based hardware with 64-bit intel and amd processors and on 64-bit windows or linux host operating systems. please review the cpu requirements before purchase, as some older cpus are no longer compatible. vmware recommends 1.2 gb of available disk space for the application. additional hard disk space required for each virtual machine. please refer to vendors recommended disk space for specific guest operating systems.
